INTRODUCTION

The Neighborhood Jobs Trust is a City of Boston charitable trust. It was created in 1987 to ensure that large scale development activity brings a direct benefit to Boston neighborhood residents in the form of jobs, job training and related services such as employment counseling or alternative education. This is the second Request for Proposals issued by the Neighborhood Jobs Trust.

Funds in the Trust come from Jobs Linkage fees. The Zoning law of the City of Boston requires that buildings over 100,000 square feet receive a zoning variance, one condition of which is that the developer of the building is obligated to pay a linkage fee, based on square footage, to the Neighborhood Jobs Trust.

The jobs linkage fee is one dollar per square foot for every foot in excess of the 100,000 square foot threshold. The payment is made in two parts, with one half due at the point a building permit is issued, and the balance due one year later, or upon the issuance of an occupancy permit for the building. Developers have the option of making a payment outright ("Jobs Contribution Grant") or specifying the type of training they wish to see provided with their funds ("Jobs Creation Contribution").

The Parcel to Parcel I development links a site in Chinatown to a site in Roxbury and will create a total of five new buildings over an estimated four year period. The Parcel 18+ Task Force, the Chinatown/South Cove Neighborhood Council, as well as City and State agencies have participated in an extensive planning process to ensure that residents of the neighborhoods adjacent to Parcel to Parcel I benefit from the economic development promised by this development. In anticipation of the approximately 6,400 new jobs to be created by Parcel to Parcel I, the developers and impacted communities have requested that the Jobs Creation Contribution be targeted to the preparation of residents for employment on this project.

The total jobs linkage grant from the project is estimated at $1,570,000, to be paid over approximately five years in accordance with Article 26B of the Boston Zoning Code. A Request for Proposals, targeted to the affected neighborhoods, will be issued for each payment for each of the five buildings. The construction of the first building in the Parcel to Parcel I project, One Lincoln Street, will make an initial $460,000 available through this proposal process for the purpose of preparing residents of the affected communities for employment on that project. These funds will be divided equally between the Chinatown and Roxbury/Southwest Corridor communities. Therefore, two Requests for Proposals, one for each community, are being issued simultaneously. Each of these initial Requests for Proposals will distribute $230,000. Subsequent Requests for Proposals will distribute contributions from the succeeding buildings as construction starts.

In order to increase the affected neighborhoods' capacity to offer education and training services to their communities, priority will be given to proposals from Chinatown- and Roxbury/Southwest Corridor-based organizations which can demonstrate the capacity to provide services successfully to the residents of their neighborhoods.

CHINATOWN

SERVICES REQUESTED

The goal of this Request for Proposals is to increase access for unemployed and underemployed Boston residents to employment opportunities created by the development of the Parcel to Parcel I project (One Lincoln Street and Ruggles Center) and to build the capacity of the adjacent communities to provide employment and training services to residents. A survey of the residents of the impacted communities reveals that residents face multiple barriers to employment, including inadequate language and literacy skills as well as limited vocational skills, job search skills and other support services. The Trust is seeking one to four programs which address these barriers to employment by providing education, skills training or a combination of both together with the support services which will lead to the greatest rate of success for participating residents. Of particular interest to the Trustees, the developers and the community are services with a strong focus on youth.

The Trustees of the Neighborhood Jobs Trust are prioritizing the following services and target populations in accordance with the employment opportunities expected on the development as well as a review of residents' needs.

TARGET SERVICES

One Lincoln Street is a mixed-use development which will include approximately 800,000 square feet of office space and 35,000 square feet) of retail space. Therefore, proposals for business/clerical-related occupations and building management are encouraged. Some opportunity will also exist in retail-related employment.

EDUCATION

The Trust requests proposals for two types of educational programming:

Intensive literacy and/or English as a Second Language programs which lead to direct job placement, acceptance into skills training or apprenticeships, or acceptance into higher education. Models which offer a collaboration with employers and/or skills training programs (including Building Opportunities Programs), which would allow students to participate in training, paid internships or apprenticeships while completing the educational component are strongly encouraged. The Trust is particularly interested in proposals in this category which target out-of-school youth (ages 16 - 24).

Programs for in-school at risk youth (ages 15 - 21) which combine education with a work or training experience that encourages students to stay in school and improve performance as a step toward achieving employment in the field of their interest.

SKILLS TRAINING

The Trust is seeking proposals for programs which will lead to employment in the areas represented at the development and which pay an average of $7.50 per hour or more for entry level employment and an average of $8.25 or more for upgraded employment. Examples of occupations expected at the development include, but are not limited to, accounting clerk, secretary, word processor; computer programmer and technician; business machine repair technician; printing; heating, ventilation and conditioning technician; and carpenter. Allowable positive outcomes will be training-related placements in permanent, unsubsidized employment for at least 30 days at the negotiated minimum wage. Evidence of employer involvement in skills training programs is strongly encouraged. Examples of employer involvement include involvement in curriculum design, development of employment competencies, internships or commitments to hire graduates, and/or program-specific match funds either in cash or in donations of private sector staff time, facilities or equipment.

LENGTH OF TRAINING

Contracts will be written for a twelve month period, therefore instruction and placement periods should fit into this period. Programs may re-submit proposals for second year funding. Refunding is contingent upon performance and the availability of funds.

TARGET POPULATION

Boston residents who are low or moderate income are eligible to participate in Jobs Trust-sponsored programs. Every effort will be made to fund programs which serve residents in the neighborhoods affected by the development, including, but not limited to the Asian community.

In addition, through extensive meetings with representatives of the impacted communities and a review of surveys of employment-related needs for the affected neighborhoods, the Jobs Trust has identified several priority groups within these neighborhoods to be targeted by this Request for Proposals. These groups include:

- o linguistic minorities
- o adult males
- o out-of-school youth (ages 16 - 24)
- o in-school at-risk youth (ages 15 - 21)

Because of the importance of services to youth in the impacted community, education and skills training programs will be evaluated for their ability to recruit and serve 15 - 24 year olds through successful collaboration with youth service providers or demonstrated in-house capacity to serve this population.

APPLICANT AND CLIENT ELIGIBILITY

Proposals may be submitted by any non-profit organization with a demonstrated track record in providing the above services to the target populations.

As stated above, one of the goals of this Request for Proposals is to increase the affected neighborhood's capacity to offer education and training services to residents. Therefore, priority will be given to proposals from Chinatown-based organizations which can demonstrate the capacity to successfully provide services to the residents of their community.

POLICIES AND PROCEDURES

A Memorandum of Agreement will be executed between the Neighborhood Jobs Trust and the provider. The MOA will be for a period of not longer than twelve months, although extensions to the MOA may be granted. The Mayor's Office of Jobs and Community Services, with Trust approval, will negotiate the MOA, including the negotiation of outcome measures and payment schedules. The contractor will be held accountable to the Trust by JCS, which will monitor programs, review performance, process payment requests, and recommend any necessary corrective actions to the Trustees. Contractors will be responsible for reporting client data to JCS for client tracking purposes.

Specific performance standards will be incorporated into the MOA. It is anticipated that for job training programs, a 70% entered employment rate and an average wage of $7.50 per hour will be required at minimum. An 80% positive outcome rate is anticipated for educational programs, including job placement at an average of $6.50 per hour. One half of the payment will generally be made for meeting enrollment goals and one half for meeting placement/positive outcome goals. To a limited extent, upfront payments may be negotiated for program startup; these will be deducted from enrollment payments. Payments are made to contractors by the Jobs Trust with JCS approval.

Successful bidders should be aware that after a commitment for funding is made, performance will be strictly monitored. However, even in cases of successful performance, second-year funding cannot be guaranteed. Refunding is based solely on the availability of funds.
